GAYLA

Every year, GSA Network hosts GAYLA, the GSA Advocacy & Youth Leadership Academy to train young people in the Central Valley, Northern California, and Southern California in advocacy organizing on local and statewide issues.

The 2016 GAYLAS were a great success. Stay tuned for the 2017 GAYLAS!

GAYLA participants will gain valuable leadership experience through a full day of training and advocacy activities to enhance their understanding of social justice issues.

The trainings happen throughout the state during the month of April.

Details of location and time will follow if you accepted to attend.

Requirements:

1. A young person between the ages 14-18
2. Committed to creating statewide and local change for trans and queer youth and uniting for racial and gender justice, specifically with a focus on advocacy and leadership.

To attend GAYLA, students must apply and be accepted.

Who should apply?

- Youth (age 18 and under) who are interested in making their schools safer for trans and queer students should apply.
- You must attend a California middle school or high school.
- We are especially looking for students who are high school juniors or younger, since GAYLA youth often work on a campaign that continues into the next school year.
- Middle school students can also apply.
- Youth of color, low-income youth, and transgender and gender non-conforming youth are strongly encouraged to apply.

After GAYLA

After being a leader at GAYLA, students are encouraged to continue advocating for trans and queer youth in schools by:

- Training members of your GSA in advocacy skills.
- Serving as a media spokesperson in your region on GSA, safer schools, and TQ youth issues.

- Making follow-up calls or visits with your lawmakers.
- Joining the GSA Network?s Statewide Advocacy Council [1].
- Organizing & participating in a campaign during the following school year to advocate for full implementation of the gender identity non-discrimination law in California schools, which may include visits with lawmakers and education officials, rallies, letter-writing campaigns, and speak-outs in your area.

"I think the most valuable part was learning how to tell my story in a way that people outside the LGBTQ community could understand."

"The most valuable part was meeting all of the other LGBTQ youth. They really inspired me and reminded me of why I'm a straight ally."
