National Gathering

The GSA movement isn't limited to California! It extends across the nation to unify students, staff, and allies who are committed to creating safe schools for all.

GSA activists from across the country come together every summer at the National Gathering. The goal of the National Gathering is to support the GSA movement across the country and expand it to include even more states, cities and towns.

The National Gathering is hosted by the National Association of GSA Networks [1]. It provides an opportunity for National Association members to collaborate, share stories, exchange resources, discuss best practices, and build the GSA movement.

Many exciting issues, topics, lectures and social events take place every year at the National Gathering, such as:

- Hands-On Workshops
- Guest Speakers
- Social Events
- Specialized Training
- Large Group Sessions

Workshop topics address a wide variety of issues, including:

- Youth Leadership Models
- Gender Identity and Expression
- Racial Justice
- Rural, Suburban, and Urban Models for GSA Organizing

Hear What National Gathering Participants Are Saying

?I can?t wait for next year! This was a transformative experience for me. It was definitely life changing.?

- Graham Brinklow, Coordinator of the Indiana Youth Group?s GSA Network

?The most valuable and powerful part of the National Gathering was the incorporation of controversial but important issues that range from complex human emotions to systemic oppression and institutions, while bringing together people from all over the nation and the perspective and experience which they hold.?

- Juan Gabriel Padilla, youth leader, Austin, Texas

?The best part was watching youth take discussions that started in a workshop and continue them in free time. The youth facilitated these discussions themselves and at the end of discussion they all shared that they felt inspired, empowered, and excited to continue those discussions online.?

- Austin Lea, Oregon Safe Schools and Communities Coalition
